- (c) A controller may not require a consumer to create a new account in order to exercise 12.1 a right, but a controller may require a consumer to use an existing account to exercise the 12.2 12.3 consumer's rights under this section. (d) A controller must comply with a request to exercise the right in subdivision 1, 12.4 12.5 paragraph (f), as soon as feasibly possible, but no later than 15 days of receipt of the request. (e) A controller must inform a consumer of any action taken on a request under 12.6 subdivision 1 without undue delay and in any event within 45 days of receipt of the request. 12.7 That period may be extended once by 45 additional days where reasonably necessary, taking 12.8 into account the complexity and number of the requests. The controller must inform the 12.9 12.10 consumer of any such extension within 45 days of receipt of the request, together with the reasons for the delay. 12.11 12.12 (f) If a controller does not take action on a consumer's request, the controller must inform the consumer without undue delay and at the latest within 45 days of receipt of the request 12.13 of the reasons for not taking action and instructions for how to appeal the decision with the 12.14 controller as described in subdivision 3. 12.15 (g) Information provided under this section must be provided by the controller free of 12.16 charge, up to twice annually to the consumer. Where requests from a consumer are manifestly 12.17 unfounded or excessive, in particular because of their repetitive character, the controller 12.18 may either charge a reasonable fee to cover the administrative costs of complying with the 12.19 12.20 request, or refuse to act on the request. The controller bears the burden of demonstrating the manifestly unfounded or excessive character of the request. 12.21 (h) A controller is not required to comply with a request to exercise any of the rights 12.22 under subdivision 1, if the controller is unable to authenticate the request using commercially 12.23 reasonable efforts. In such cases, the controller may request the provision of additional 12.24 information reasonably necessary to authenticate the request. A controller is not required 12.25 to authenticate an opt-out request, but a controller may deny an opt-out request if the 12.26 controller has a good faith, reasonable, and documented belief that such request is fraudulent. 12.27 12.28 If a controller denies an opt-out request because the controller believes such request is fraudulent, the controller must notify the person who made the request that the request was 12.29 denied due to the controller's belief that the request was fraudulent and state the controller's 12.30 basis for that belief. 12.31 (i) In response to a consumer request under subdivision 1, a controller must not disclose 12.32 the following information about a consumer, but must instead inform the consumer with 12.33
