Sec. 2. [84C.06] DELINQUENT REAL ESTATE TAXES; BURDENED LAND.

(a) If the taxes are deemed delinquent on the real property burdened by a conservation easement subject to the duration limit in section 84C.02, paragraph (e), the easement terminates and must be released.

(b) After the taxes are deemed delinquent on the real property burdened by a conservation easement subject to the duration limit in section 84C.02, paragraph (e), no payment for the purchase of that easement may thereafter be made by the holder or the holder's successor in interest, or any other person, to an owner of the interest in the real property burdened by the easement, or the owner's successor in interest. Within 120 days from the date the taxes are deemed delinquent, the owner of an interest in the real property burdened by the easement must pay to the holder an amount equal to the amount of any payment made for the purchase of that easement in the taxes payable year for which the taxes are deemed delinquent.

(c) If all payments for the purchase of a conservation easement have been made at the time the taxes on the real property burdened by the easement are deemed delinquent but before the easement under section 84C.02, paragraph (e), expires, then within 120 days from the date the taxes are deemed delinquent, an owner of the interest in the real property burdened by the easement must make a payment to the holder equal to the total amount paid for the easement, divided by the number of years of the duration of the easement, multiplied by the sum of the number of taxes payable years for which taxes are deemed delinquent and the number of years remaining until the easement expires. For multiple owners, each owner must pay a pro rata share of the amount determined under this paragraph.

EFFECTIVE DATE. This section is effective for conservation easements and interests conveyed on or after the day following final enactment.
