INTEREST ON DEPOSITS.

The income from this source during the last fiscal year amounted to $16,354.07.

GENERAL REVENUE FUND.

Owing to the wise legislation of the last session of the legislature and the economic administration of the several branches of the state government, the expenditures for the fiscal year ending July 31, 1890, just closed, have been kept within the limits of the receipts, and I take pleasure to refer to the fact that the general revenue fund is now in a more satisfactory condition than at any time during the ten years past.

The receipts into the fund for the year were $2,156,156.80, which shows an increase in receipts of $236,488.19 over the year previous. During the year $1,767,966.81 was paid in redemption of state auditor's revenue warrants, and at the close of the year there is a balance of $370,722.16 to the credit of the fund.

The policy of so timing all new appropriations that they do not become available until the taxes for the year for which the appropriations are made become due and available, inaugurated by the last legislature, has resulted in much good, and I cannot too earnestly recommend its continuance.

The law requiring the payment of fees into the state treasury by corporations, upon filing with the secretary of state articles of association, or upon increase of capital stock, has been in successful operation since May 1, 1889, during which time the fees received amounted to $49,125. This is a new source of revenue.

STATE DEBT.

The total amount of the funded debt of the state on July 31, 1889, was $4,215,000. To this has been added during the year $150,000, so that at the close of the fiscal year July 31, 1890, the total indebtedness of the state is $4,365,000. Of this amount $3,965,000 is represented by railroad adjustment bonds, of which the permanent school fund holds $1,981,000 and the permanent university fund $288,000, the balance being held by outside parties. These bonds bear interest at the rate of 4.50 per cent. per annum and become optional on July 1, 1891. $250,000 is represented by the "Minnesota revenue bonds" and $150,000 by "Minnesota building bonds," issued under chapter 239 of the general laws of 1889, and entitled, "An act to borrow money to defray the extraordinary expenses of the state government." These bonds bear interest at the rate of four (4) per cent. per annum, and are held, $250,000 by the permanent school fund, $50,000 by the permanent university fund, and $100,000 by the internal improvement land fund.

The total amount of the sinking fund to meet the indebtedness represented by the railroad adjustment bonds was, at the close of the fiscal year July 31st, 1890, $2,125,518.46, consisting of cash, $132,136.29; land contracts, $1,803,982.17; Tennessee settlement bonds, $89,400, and Minnesota building bonds, $100,000. In this connection I would respectfully recommend a special legislation authorizing the transfer of the land contracts to the permanent school fund in exchange for an equal amount of the railroad adjustment bonds. In this manner the permanent school fund would receive securities bearing interest at the rate of five (5) and seven (7) per cent., and a large block of the railroad adjustment bonds could be canceled.

BOUNTIES FOR KILLING WOLVES.

Section 74 of chapter 124, general statutes of Minnesota, provides: "Any person who shall kill any wolf in this state between November first and May first in any year, shall be entitled to receive a bounty of five dollars ($5), and for any wolf killed in this state in any year between May first and November first, shall be entitled to receive a bounty of three dollars ($3)." Orders for such bounty are made on the treasurer of the state and must be received by the state treasurer in payment of state taxes. At the last session of the legislature the annual appropriation for the payment of wolf bounties was increased from $10,000 to $12,000, and a deficiency appropriation of $5,000 was made to meet the then existing overdraft. Even with this increase the appropriation has fallen far short of meeting the ever growing demand upon the treasury from this source. For the fiscal year ending July 31, 1890, the appropriation has been entirely exhausted and at the close of the year there are in the state treasury, and carried on the books as "cash in vault," unredeemed orders amounting to $16,993. This will wipe out the appropriation for the fiscal year 1891 and leave a deficiency of about $5,000 at the beginning of the year. To this must be added the orders that will be presented at the treasury during the year, which, in my opinion, will increase the deficiency to more than double the amount of the annual appropriation. The makers of the law no doubt had in mind the extermination of the wolves, but experience has proven that it has had the opposite effect. Believing that the farmers, and especially those engaged in sheep raising, will destroy the wolves for their own protection, I would respectfully recommend that the law above referred to be repealed and thus stop a heavy and, in my opinion, useless expenditure, the repeal of the law to go into effect no later than April first next. I would also recommend an appropriation of $25,000 or so much thereof as may be necessary to redeem the orders in the hands of the state and county treasurers and representing the deficiency above referred to.

VAULT ROOM.

I would respectfully call attention to the fact that the safety-vault in this office is entirely inadequate for the requirements of the office. Unless additional safety-vault room is speedily provided it will be necessary to arrange with some safety deposit company for the safe keeping of the state's valuables. This would be a matter of very great inconvenience to the state treasurer and should not be thought of for a moment. The state auditor also needs additional vault room and I am informed by the engineer of the capitol that the necessary improvements can be made at an expenditure of $1,600, including a steel safe for this office, and I earnestly recommend that this amount be appropriated for the purpose indicated.

JOSEPH BOBLETER,
State Treasurer.
