H. F. No. 125

An Act to legalize and validate proceedings had taken and done relative to the extension of the corporate existence of banking corporations organized under chapter thirty-three (33) of the General Statutes of eighteen hundred and seventy-eight (1878).

Banks.
Extension of corporate existence.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the state of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. (a) That in any case where there has been heretofore attempted the renewal or extension of the corporate existence of any banking corporation organized under the General Laws of the state, and the person or persons attempting to make such extension or renewal have actually complied with all provisions prescribed by law for such action, and have in fact proceeded under its corporate name to transact and carry on business, and in the pursuit thereof have in good faith continued or intended to continue their corporate existence, such attempted renewal or extension, in each and every such case, is hereby legalized and declared a valid and effectual renewal or extension of the corporate existence of such corporation under its corporate name, notwithstanding the omission of any matter or any form of law prescribed to be done, and especially notwithstanding the failure of such corporation to take such action immediately upon the expiration of the term of its original incorporation.

(b) All conveyances of property, real or personal, made in good faith and lawful form, to or by any such corporation, are hereby legalized and declared to be as valid and effectual for the purpose intended thereby as if such extension of the period of corporation had been effected and executed before the expiration of the original articles of incorporation.

SEC. 2 This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved March 26, 1901.

CHAPTER 84.

Corporations.
Extension of incorporation.

An act to legalize, in certain cases, proceedings for extending the period of corporate existence of corporations.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. That in any case where a corporation created by and under the laws of this state shall within the period of its corporate existence as originally defined, have heretofore initiated proceedings authorized by law for the extension of its corporate existence, and said proceedings have been regularly taken and consummated, except that the original period of corporate existence had expired prior to the filing and recording of the resolution of extension required by law in the office of the Secretary of State and in the office of the Register of Deeds of the proper county, and prior to the making of the newspaper publication of such resolution, as required by law, the said proceedings are hereby in all such cases legalized and declared to be as valid as though such resolution had been filed and recorded in the office of the Secretary of State, and in the office of such Register of Deeds, and published as required by law, before the original corporate term had expired. Provided, that the provisions of this act shall not apply to any action or proceeding now pending in any of the courts of this state.
