CHAPTER 586—H. F. No. 282.

(AMENDING SECTION 576.31 MINNESOTA STATUTES 1941.)

An act relating to penalties for unreasonable delay by defendants in Workmen's Compensation Cases; and amending Mason's Minnesota Statutes of 1927, Section 4292.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

Section 1. Law amended.—Mason's Minnesota Statutes of 1927, Section 4292, is amended to read as follows:

4292. Penalties for unreasonable delay.—Subdivision 1. In all cases of injuries subject to the Workmen's Compensation Act, as amended, payment of compensation commences within 30 days after the employer is notified of the injury or has knowledge thereof, unless within such period the employer or his insurer files with the commission a denial of liability therefor or applies to the commission for an extension of time within which to determine liability. For cause shown, the commission may grant such extension for not more than 30 days. Any employer or insurer who fails, within such 30-day period, to commence payment of compensation or to file with the commission a denial of liability for such injury or to apply to the commission for an extension of time within which to determine liability, shall pay into the special compensation fund a sum equal to the compensation to which the employee or his dependents are entitled for each day of delay after the expiration of such 30-day period in addition to the compensation payable to the employee or his dependents for his injury. If any employer or insurer is granted an extension of time within which to determine liability and fails, within such extension period, to commence payment of compensation or to file a notice of denial of liability therefor, such employer or insurer shall pay into the special compensation fund a sum equal to the compensation to which the
