CHAPTER 394—H. F. No. 1562

[Not Coded]

An act relating to water and gas mains in cities of the first class having not more than 150,000 inhabitants.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

Section 1. Duluth, may extend certain water or gas mains. There is hereby conferred authority upon any city of the first class having not more than 150,000 inhabitants, to construct, lay, keep, maintain, enlarge, or extend water mains or gas mains in any public highway or public road located partly within and partly without the corporate limits of such city, for the purposes of furnishing water or gas to owners or occupants of lands immediately fronting on either side of such highway or road.

Sec. 2. Charges. The governing body of any such city may adopt such rules and regulations and prescribe such charges, rentals, rates, or fees for supplying water or gas, as aforesaid, as may be reasonably necessary or incidental for such purposes.

Sec. 3. Powers additional. The powers granted by this act are in addition to all other powers now possessed by any such city with reference to constructing, laying, keeping, maintaining, enlarging, or extending water mains or gas mains.

Approved April 7, 1955.
