

porate period, as fixed by its articles of incorporation or by statutory limitation, and when such period is extended as provided by this section, any and all corporate acts and contracts done and performed, made and entered into after the expiration of said original period, shall be and each is hereby declared to be legal and valid.

Subd. 5. Application. This section shall not apply to any domestic corporation, the charter of which has been declared forfeited by the final judgment of any court of competent jurisdiction of this state or to any domestic corporation as to which there is pending any action or proceeding in any of the courts of this state for the forfeiture of its charter, nor shall this section affect any action or proceedings now pending in any of the courts of this state in relation to any domestic corporation described in subdivision 1.

Subd. 6. Election. Every domestic corporation renewing its corporate existence pursuant to the provisions of this section which was not formed under sections 317.01 to 317.25, and which has not previously elected to be subject to such sections, by such renewal shall be deemed conclusively to have elected to accept and be bound by the provisions of such sections. This subdivision shall not apply to religious corporations and other domestic corporations excepted from this chapter by section 317.06, paragraph (1).

Subd. 7. Other amendments. Any domestic corporation taking action to renew the period of duration of its corporate existence pursuant to the provisions of this section may make such other amendment or amendments to its articles of incorporation as might be permitted to a domestic corporation whose period of duration had not expired, and the articles of amendment setting forth the renewal of the period of duration may also set forth such other amendment or amendments.
