may receive expense reimbursement from a person who takes a child into his home, or a person who adopts a child, in such an amount as will not exceed a sum that fairly reflects the average reasonable and necessary expenses of making the investigation of the home, provision of service to the child prior to adoptive placement, and the supervision of the child in the home until legal adoption is completed; provided that such expense reimbursement shall not exceed ~~$300~~ $600; provided further that only such part of the expenses be requested which the adopting person is financially able to meet and provided further that no person shall be barred from receiving a child for adoption because of inability to pay any part of the expense. In addition to such other reports as may be required, each licensed agency, shall file annually with the commissioner of public welfare a full accounting of all expense reimbursement received pursuant to this subdivision, together with the record of the services given for which such reimbursement was made. If he returns the child to the corporation, the person shall not receive compensation for the care, clothing, or medical attendance of the child.

This provision shall not preclude voluntary contributions on the part of anyone at any time.

(2) No organization, association or society shall be eligible to receive an expense reimbursement from a person who takes a child into his home or who adopts a child in any amount whatsoever during the first five years that such association or society shall be licensed by the department of public welfare.

Approved March 11, 1971.
