2.3 (d) $..... in fiscal year 2020 is appropriated to the attorney general for an analysis of
2.4 the current permitting process for mining operations and its adequacy to address current
2.5 mining operations. This analysis must include:

2.6 (1) a review of the process used for the permit to mine issued for the PolyMet operation;

2.7 (2) a review of concerns regrading the need for a health assessment and recommendations
2.8 for updating the current process to address the concerns;

2.9 (3) public hearings and a chance for public comment during various stages of the analysis;
2.10 and

2.11 (4) recommendations and any statutory changes necessary to:

2.12 (i) ensure that the permitting process includes a clear identification of lands and waters
2.13 to be affected;

2.14 (ii) ensure the state retains the right to require operations to cease if the state determines
2.15 that a condition of a permit has been violated;

2.16 (iii) ensure that the public's interests in the state's water, air, and lands are protected and
2.17 clearly articulated in statute; and

2.18 (iv) clearly state the role of state government to provide stewardship to protect the state's
2.19 natural resources.

2.20 The attorney general must consult with the state's Indian tribes throughout the stages of the 2.21 analysis.
