ADVERTISING

2500.0200 PROFESSIONAL STANDARDS FOR ADVERTISING.

Subpart 1. Individual advertising. A chiropractor is licensed under his own name and must not use a false or assumed name in the conduct of his profession. All advertisements, of any nature whatsoever, including office designation and business displays, must bear the name of the licensee or licensees. This standard of professional conduct is inherent in the law. It includes advertising or other solicitation of business. It precludes solicitation or advertising without the assurance to the public given by the name under which the chiropractor is licensed to practice. All advertisements which solicit patronage without disclosing the name or names of the practitioner or practitioners to the reader so that the public may know who is soliciting their patronage are wrongful.

Subp. 2. Institutional advertising. It is to be noted that so-called institutional advertisements which bring to the attention of the public the qualifications of chiropractors, generally, and the benefits to be derived from chiropractic, which are sponsored by chiropractic groups or societies, and do not solicit patronage for any particular practitioner or group of practitioners are not within the purview of this prohibition.

Statutory Authority: MS s 148.05; 148.10 subd 1

2500.0300 EMERGENCY ANSWERING EXCHANGE.

It is to be noted that membership in any answering exchange or other emergency service which is open to all members of the profession admitted to practice in this state on an equal basis, selects responding members on a rotating basis, and is designed as a public service rather than for the individual gain of any chiropractor, directly or indirectly, is permissible.

Statutory Authority: MS s 148.05; 148.10 subd 1

2500.0400 PROHIBITED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisements are designed to appeal to and obtain the attention of the public and are designed, paid for, or published with a view to close analysis by the reader at whose attention they are aimed.

The law prohibits the use of the terms "cure" or "guarantee to cure" or similar terms and declares such to be fraudulent and misleading to the general public.

The use of testimonials, whether single or in groups, or summaries of types of treatment or examples of treatment as used in the advertiser's office carry with them an implication that the conditions described in the advertisement have been or will be cured by the practitioner and are fraudulent and misleading to the general public.

The advertising by any means of chiropractic practice or treatment or advice in which untruthful, improbable, misleading, or impossible statements are made is obviously contrary to the law.
