PROPOSED RULES

Pursuant to Minn. Stat. of 1980, §§ 14.21, an agency may propose to adopt, amend, suspend or repeal rules without first holding a public hearing, as long as the agency determines that the rules will be noncontroversial in nature. The agency must first publish a notice of intent to adopt rules without a public hearing, together with the proposed rules, in the State Register. The notice must advise the public:

1. that they have 30 days in which to submit comment on the proposed rules;
  2. that no public hearing will be held unless seven or more persons make a written request for a hearing within the 30-day comment period;
  3. of the manner in which persons shall request a hearing on the proposed rules;
- and
4. that the rule may be modified if modifications are supported by the data and views submitted.

If, during the 30-day comment period, seven or more persons submit to the agency a written request for a hearing of the proposed rules, the agency must proceed under the provisions of §§ 14.13-14.20 which state that if an agency decides to hold a public hearing, it must publish in the State Register a notice of its intent to do so. This notice must appear at least 30 days prior to the date set for the hearing, along with the full text of the proposed rules. (If the agency has followed the provisions of subd. 4h and has already published the proposed rules, a citation to the prior publication may be substituted for republication.)

Pursuant to Minn. Stat. § 14.29, when a statute, federal law or court order to adopt, suspend or repeal a rule does not allow time for the usual rulemaking process, temporary rules may be proposed. Proposed temporary rules are published in the State Register, and for at least 20 days thereafter, interested persons may submit data and views in writing to the proposing agency.

C6-81-1289, C3-82-529 *Barr/Nelson, Inc. v. Hennepin County.

Pierringer-type settlement agreements are a proper means to resolve construction contract disputes.

Under the approved settlement agreement as presented, unaddressed claims remained against the non-settling surety.

The trial court did not err in refusing instructions whose substance is adequately contained in the general charge. The court's instructions on fraudulent misrepresentation accurately reflected Minnesota law.

Trial court did not err in refusing to find acts of the surety fraudulent as a matter of law. It is a question of fact whether a defendant has misrepresented material facts and whether the misrepresentations proximately caused plaintiff's injury.

Unless willful and malicious conduct by a surety constitutes an independent tort, Minnesota law does not permit recovery of punitive damages.

General damages are recoverable from a surety for breach of the obligation of good faith only if they are the kind of damages which normally flow from a breach of contract.

Where all of the contracting parties signed a settlement agreement releasing their claims under the contract, the owner, who hired a contractor to construct a fast-food restaurant, cannot recover general damages from a surety who guarantees the contractor's performance, if damages are solely those which flow from a breach of contract.

Minn. Stat. § 549.21 (1982), codifies an exception to the general rule that attorney's fees are not awarded absent an authorizing contract or statute. The exception provides that, where a party or attorney acted in bad faith as to an issue in litigation, attorney fees may be rewarded.

Affirmed in part, reversed in part. Todd, J.

The prehearing license revocation provisions of Minn. Stat. § 169.123 (1982) do not violate due process of law as guaranteed by the United States and Minnesota Constitutions.

Minn. Stat. § 169.123 (1982) does not compel persons to incriminate themselves in violation of their Fifth Amendment privilege against self-incrimination.
