332.32 EXCLUSIONS.

(a) The term "collection agency" does not include banks when collecting accounts owed to the banks and when the bank will sustain any loss arising from uncollectible accounts, abstract companies doing an escrow business, real estate brokers, public officers, persons acting under order of a court, lawyers, trust companies, insurance companies, credit unions, savings associations, loan or finance companies unless they are engaged in asserting, enforcing or prosecuting unsecured claims which have been purchased from any person, firm, or association when there is recourse to the seller for all or part of the claim if the claim is not collected.

(b) The term "collection agency" does not include a trade association performing services authorized by section 604.15, subdivision 4a, but the trade association in performing the services may not engage in any conduct that would be prohibited for a collection agency under section 332.37.

(c) The term "collection agency" does not include a residential mortgage servicer licensed under chapter 58 or a student loan servicer licensed under chapter 58B if the residential mortgage servicer or student loan servicer is engaging in activities subject to licensure under chapter 58 or 58B, as applicable.
